

PROJECT HOSPITALITY

Overview: Project Hospitality is a private, not-for-profit organization with a 30 year history serving the needs of the impoverished, food-insecure, and homeless residents of Staten Island, New York. Many of their clients are living with multiple diagnoses such as HIV, substance abuse, and/or mental illness. Project Hospitality's comprehensive care provides food, clothing, and shelter enhanced by health and mental health services, substance abuse treatment, HIV prevention care, domestic violence education and services, immigrant services, vocational training, and many more. Their services help address immediate needs but also help achieve their self-sufficiency.

Day-to-Day: Volunteers will be preparing meals, assisting in the daily operations of the center and interacting with clients.

The Nitty Gritty Details: The group will be staying in a church common area and will need to provide their own bedding. Lunch is provided at the service site Monday-Friday. The group will be given a small grocery budget for all other meals to prepare on their own. Participants should plan for additional funds to purchase some food.
