

WOMANKIND

Overview: For decades, Womankind has been serving survivors of domestic violence, human trafficking, and sexual violence of all ages. Womankind provides innovative healing services and award-winning assistance to women and their children. Depending on circumstance, clients receive access to a safe place to live, assistance with housing, employment, English language training, legal immigration assistance, financial empowerment, and so much more.

Day-to-Day: Participants will provide service at one of Womankind's emergency housing locations through a variety of tasks including assisting staff with residential operations and programming, painting and gardening. Participants with computer skills will have the opportunity to express some creativity and produce an informational video for Womankind to share with clients about the emergency shelter resource. Finally, the group will come up with a workshop to facilitate themselves with clients of Womankind surrounding topics of vocational training/ readiness, arts/ crafts activities, or other topics suggested by the community partner.

The Nitty Gritty Details: Housing is still being determined but will likely entail a church. No meals are provided by the sites. The group will receive a small grocery budget to provide some meals but participants should plan to spend additional funds during the week for food.
