Supporting sustainability measures in New Orleans through animal rights protection and building affordable housing

Overview: This site will combine service at 2 organizations to provide a diverse view of the city's needs. Part of the trip will be spent with Habitat for Humanity New Orleans, tackling issues of homelessness and poverty. The second site will be focused on animal welfare at a rescue and care center. Both organizations are helping to rebuild, create stability throughout the city, and capture the vivacious culture and hope that is New Orleans. If you enjoy different types of service and want to interact with people, animals, and the environment, this is a great trip option.

Day-to-day: Days will be divided up between the two organizations throughout the week. Service at the Habitat site could include painting, drywall, flooring, or insulation. The animal shelter will include working with animals and keeping the center clean.

The Nitty-Gritty Details: Participants will stay at a church in bunk rooms, and should expect to bring their own bedding. Meals are not provided by sites, but the group will be given a small budget for groceries to purchase food items to be cooked in the church kitchen.
